Deposits may not be made to restricted funds.

- RC funds are donor Restricted Contribution funds.
- They hold gifts received from donors.
- Donors have put either a time or purpose restriction on these gifts.
- Money received from an event or service is not a gift and cannot be credited to a donor fund.
Gifts must be processed through Advancement

- Donor will get the appropriate tax receipt,
- Gift information is properly recorded in the University record keeping system,
- University gift information is properly captured for 990 and other required forms.
Deposits may not be made to restricted funds.

- ER funds are donor Endowment Restricted distribution funds.
- They hold the distribution from donor restricted endowments.
- Donors have put either a time or purpose restriction on the gifts that have been invested in the endowment pool. The spendable distribution on these gifts carries this restriction.
- Money received from an event or service is not a gift and cannot be credited to a donor fund.
What if I have a check that covers an event and a donation?

Any check that has a donation (gift) component must be deposited through Advancement – Gift Processing. They will work with you and FAS Gift Accounting to ensure that the check credits the appropriate accounts.
If I can’t deposit to an RC or ER fund, what fund can I deposit to?

Deposits may be made to your departments unrestricted fund (fund 111111). Be sure to include the appropriate org and account.
We used to be able to deposit to ER and RC funds, why the change?

The short answer is that we in Gift Accounting did not do a very good job of ensuring that other revenue was not deposited to gift funds. Going forward, our goal is to be better stewards of University deposits and gift funds.
